

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE.

SATURDAY EVENING, JANUARY 5.

HALLIWELL PHILLIPS—A dispatch from Paris says Halliwell Phillips is dead. He was the first writer who brought together the real facts of Shakespeare's life, many of which he himself was instrumental in discovering in the course of his laborious investigation of public records. Although instrumental in securing a new place at Stratford for the town corporation, latterly he was at enmity with that corporation whose supposed discoveries, so confidently announced on two occasions, were shown to be mere fables. He was a wealthy man, fond of issuing limited private editions of antiquarian books. He had a splendid collection of curiosities relating to Shakespeare, which brought many strangers to his house at Brighton, where he died.

A STORY OF HAL DULANY—An English actor gives this account of his first meeting with Captain Dulany, on whose coach he was asked to join a party of men. When they were well out of the city, Dulany tied his reins in a knot, threw them on the horse's back, then lashed his wheels in a gallop. He then told a footman to bring him the reins. While they were dashing along the poor darkey boy had to climb around the coach and down onto the horse's shoulders, untie the lines and hand them to his master. Capt. Dulany was sure of his horse, and had trained them to obey his voice so thoroughly that he felt perfect confidence in committing what appeared to his guests an act of foolhardy recklessness.—America.

The GAZETTE, chronologically, is in the NINETEENTH year of its existence and is now only the oldest paper in the State, but, with very few exceptions, in the country. No withstanding the fullness of its years, it has kept, and will continue to keep abreast of the times in all that pertains to a news paper, furnishing its readers daily with a perfect mirror of passing events, domestic and foreign. Its facilities for obtaining news as they increase are taken advantage of and used for the benefit of its readers, who are thus kept thoroughly posted as to all that is of interest politically, socially, financially and commercially. Special attention is given to matters concerning the State and its welfare, while its local columns contain all that is of the slightest interest to Alexandria. Its regular correspondence from Washington and Richmond are features of peculiar interest, as attested by the eagerness with which they are read and copied by other papers, while its editorial department, conducted with reference to the best interests of the city, State and country, will continue to advocate what is believed to be right, just, honest and patriotic. With a view to the interests of merchants, farmers, and all interested, its commercial columns are carefully edited and its market reports are acknowledged by all to be faithful and accurate. Through all this section of the State and in all parts of the country where Virginians have located, there will be the GAZETTE generally be found, and thus as an advertising medium it has few equals outside the large cities. In the household, counting room and workshop, it is an ever welcome visitor, acceptable alike to old and young, the grave and the gay.
